

History,

As a child I had to take erythromycin which is an anti-biotic. This medication which was not known until years latter would cause the teeth of an adult to be small and discolored.

The problem with the teeth is that they became sensitive, and of course were a dentist's nightmare to work on and a dentist's financial dream since they knew I would be there many times. Let be real, after years of bad dentistry, and being poked and prodded who likes a dentist? Not me, but that all changed with Dr. Nadler. "OK I still cringe with the noise but that is only a Pavlov's dog response. I do not want to give the end of the story so, I will say no more on that topic.

The Success story:

I had gone to Dr. Nadler and staff for over a year before we started the process to correct the issue of my teeth.

He first presented his master plan for the treatment. He was very direct in what should be done and the goal. Unlike other dentists that I have gone to, he was looking out for me. He was so correct on his end goal focus and not just an endless list of short term fixes, and treatments. He and his staff discussed the treatment and what I could expect and the timeline that this all could be performed. He did not rush any of the treatments. Nor, did he or his staff put any pressure on me. His staff has worked with my schedule and my financial limits.

Day of success:

Dr. Nadler and staff spent the entire day with me for the installation of my new, natural and beautiful teeth. They made sure I was comfortable, that I was not in any discomfort including hunger, thirsty and of course from the work that was being performed. They really were concerned with my whole well being and not just the mouth and my teeth.

There was little discomfort except what was expected from the pulling of the lips and mouth.

If I only had a Dr. Nadler as my only dentist I would not have had the dislike for the dentist.

His work is meticulous and natural.

You would never believe that I ever had an issue and for that matter that these new teeth are not my real teeth. If I thought about keeping track of all the times that I get complements on my teeth I would have to carry a book the size of an encyclopedia.

Frank

Systems Analyst - MES
2000 Galloping Hill Rd